Territorial Census and Surname Index

Of The

City of Albuquerque

Territory of New Mexico

(Books 1, 2, and 3 — Book 4 is not extant)

April, 1885

There are four reels of microfilm covering various census records taken of the Territory of New Mexico in April, 1885. They cover the census for the counties then in existence and contain detailed records of business and agriculture. Apparently, at a later time, another reel was found of that census covering only the City of Albuquerque. It appears that the Albuquerque city census is not contained in the four reels of county records.

The City of Albuquerque was apparently broken down into four areas with one book covering each area. Only the first three books are in existence and the fourth is not extant.

The Census was arranged with columns for the date, the name, the occupation, then a number written in as a citizen count number, unless the person was noted to be a "non resident". (Then no count number was assigned.) The age column is next, followed by the sex, which was not always filled in, particularly for the heads of household. The remarks column is last, and usually only contained information that the person listed is not a resident, but did show the age in "months" for a baby. The microfilm is a black background and white writing. It is difficult, but usually one can make out the name. The photocopies included here are much more difficult to read. If the researcher has any doubt about the name or wants to check the additional information, this index will certainly help to find it.

There was no page or line numbering system on the census record or on the microfilm, so I have had to affix a number at the right side of the page to make it easier for the researcher to identify the person from the index. I commenced the page numbering with the first frame on the reel. When consulting the original microfilm record, it will be necessary for the researcher to count the frames in from the beginning and match that to the pages as I have numbered them in this index.

Many of the names are difficult to read and I have attempted to verify the names as best I could from the city directories available from that period and from newspaper articles appearing in the Albuquerque Daily Citizen. If the researcher has any question as to the spelling or identity of an individual, you are urged to check the original microfilm. If a more predominate spelling of a name is known, both the erroneous and the correct spelling is included in the index. It would be appreciated if any errors are discovered that you so notify the Genealogy Club of Albuquerque so corrections may be made in future printings.

The first page of the census is reproduced showing the entire page so the researcher may see what the page looked like. The following pages are slightly enlarged to allow for easier reading and deciphering of names.

This original publication was prepared under the assumption that the microfilm from which it was derived was a portion of the Territorial Archives copy of NM Terr. Census of 1885. With the purchase of the microfilm version of the Nat'l Archives & Records Admin. copy of the Terr. Census, we now know that the assumption was in error. Based upon newspaper accounts and other evidence, we believe that this publication reflects the census taken by the Sheriff of Bernalillo County in April 1885, a statutory requirement for incorporation of "New Town" Albuquerque. The portion of Albuquerque covered by this census is roughly equivalent to Precinct 12 of Bernalillo County, enumerated in June, 1885, as a part of the Terr. Census. Howard W. Henry, Albq Genealogical Society, formerly the Genealogy Club of Albuquerque. December 15, 2006.
